MUCH DISCUSSION OVER A SENATORIAL PRIMARY

Some Think it Should be Held at General Election in 1912, While Others Believe it Should Occur Before State Convention in July.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, July 20.—Just when and how the Democratic primary for United States Senator should be pulled off in 1912, the campaign for which is already in process of agitation the State over, is a much discussed topic at the State Capital just now along with possible complications that may arise. There are those close to the state administration who believe that if there is a primary at all it should be held before the State Convention next July and should include all the State officers as well as the United States senator to succeed Senator Simmons.

However, there is the check to this view that the question of holding a state-wide primary was put up to the recent legislature and that body squarely refused to provide it, taking the view that it was inexpedient for the Democratic party and that in the light of the action of the representatives of the people and the party in the legislature, the Democratic State Executive Committee would not be justified in ordering a primary, if it had the right to do so, which is disputed.

A view that is taken by men close to the party management is that the State Convention should provide for the senatorial primary to be held at the general election, the primary vote for senator being cast by Democrats at the same time that the general State ticket is voted in November. There is complaint against this course that the State ticket might get embroiled in the senatorial fight and prove disastrous to the party ticket or some important features of it. To this the answer is that the State convention should lay down the rule for the primary that no one shall be allowed to vote for United States senator except those who vote the straight Democratic State ticket, the State ticket to be voed before the voter is allowed to put in his vote for senator.

There are numbers of people well experienced in politics who are free to express the fear that there will be no primary provided for after all, and that the whole senatorial fight will be dumped on the 1913 legislature where they fear that the fate of the contest in this State will be the same as complained of in many other good states that "the longest pole" (in a financial way) will get the persimmon. Yet all the candidates are committed to the primary plan and one will most likely be held, the details for subsequent primaries and for making the outcome as to actual nomination really binding, being considered of most vital importance so as to assure definite primary instruction for the legislature when it assembles. Those discussing these matters express the highest confidence in the integrity of a North Carolina legislature as a whole but they don't want to see this senatorial contest turned into the legislature in such shape as will make it possible for money to be used as an influence on any of the members and that it would be impossible for money not to play an important part in such a contest where there was a deadlock with a close vote, it being hardly possible to assemble a legislature in any state with such high individual integrity that there would not be some purchasable individuals.

It looks like there is little likelihood of any material following coming to the advocates of a primary ordered by the executive committee before the July convention. And also there is every indication that the whole matter will be up to the State Convention, where, with all the senatorial candiates committed to the primary plan, there will be the certain calling of a primary to be held at the general election. The critical thing will be the safeguarding of this primary so as to keep to the minimum the consequent "wear and tear" on the party and at the same time avoid the possibility of the fight being ultimately carried to the legislature.

HER CHILD DEAD, WOMAN TOOK POISON WHILE IN DESPAIR

However, Dose was not Fatal---Had Begged to go to Child.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, July 20.—Mary E. Kennedy, having in her hand a telegram from her husband reading "Baby is dead, come at once," tottered off of the the Seaboard Air Line train from Henderson this afternoon at the Union station and told the matron that in despair she had taken poison. Physicians found the dose was not fatal and allowed her to go on to Goldsboro. She wore only stockings on her feet and was clad in a low cut black house dress. She said she had been ill and friends she stayed with at Henderson while her husband went to Seven Springs with the child in hope of saving its life opposed her going to Goldsboro, where the dead child was, so she ran away and begged the ticket agent for a ticket to Goldsboro, which she had.

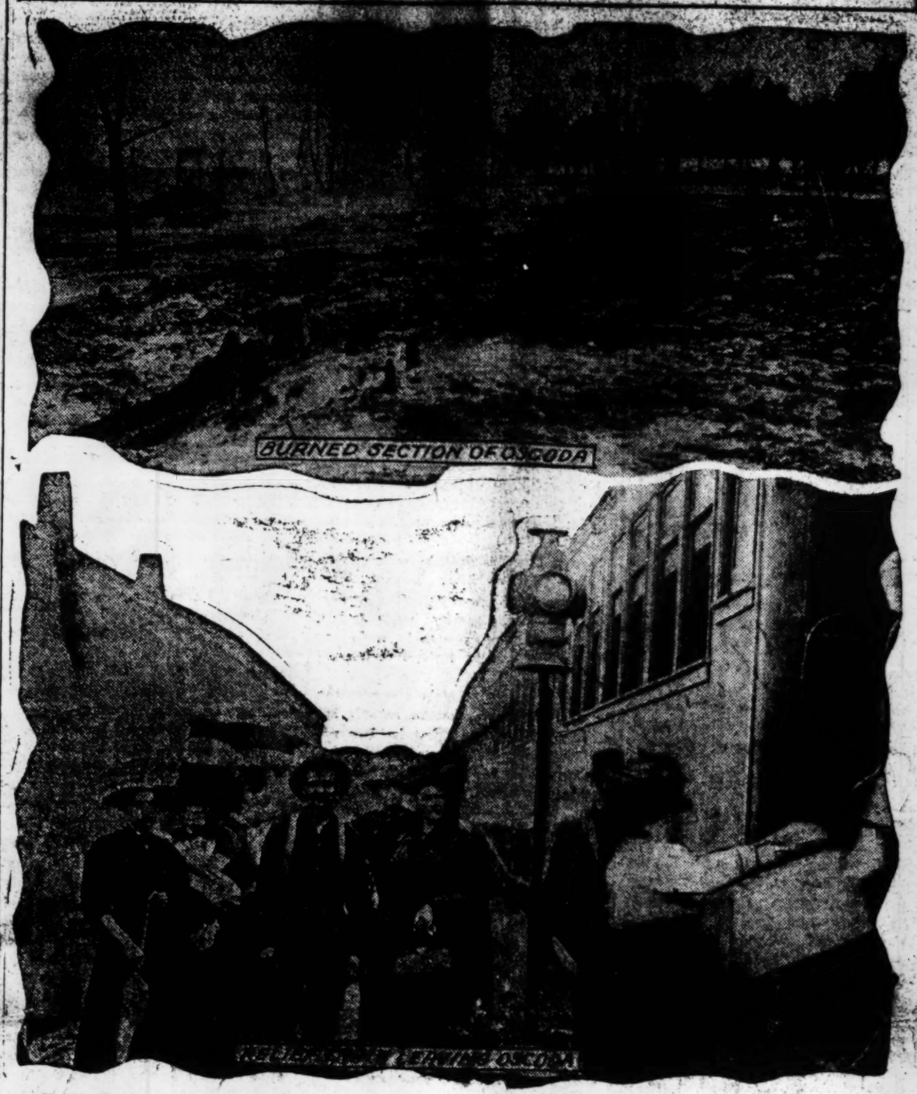
FARM INSTITUTE WORKERS TAKE NORMAL COURSE

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, July 20.—The lecturers and demonstrators who are to take part in the series of farmers' institutes that are to be held in nearly every county in the state during August began a three days' normal institute here today for mutual "brushing up" in methods of institute work. There are lecturers and demonstrators for six institute parties that are to start out in various sections of the state during the last week of July and be on the go throughout August. Farm Demonstrator T. B. Parker, of the State Department of Agriculture, is in charge of the normal work and is general director of the institutes to be held. During the opening exercises today there were special addresses by S. B. Heiges on "The Farmer's Institute Worker"; Mrs. Henrietta W. Calvin, on "The Woman's Institute Lecturer" and by Dr. W. S. Rankin, secretary of the State Board of Health, on "The Institute Lecturer's Opportunity." There are being held separate meetings for the workers in institutes for farmers and for farmer's wives. All the phases of institute work are coming in for attention as to the best methods of their presentation in the institutes, these matters being presented by experts.

Hundreds of Lives Lost When Forest Fires Wiped Out Thriving Lumber Towns In Northern Michigan.



Hundreds of lives have been lost in the forest fires that have recently done great damage in northern Michigan. The actual number of fatalities will never be known, because in many cases the bodies of the victims were entirely consumed. The towns of Ausable and Oscoda, on Lake Huron, about 100 miles north of Bay City, were destroyed. Some of the inhabitants escaped on relief trains that were sent out as soon as it was seen that the towns, which had a combined population of about 2,500, were doomed. Nearly 300 refugees left Oscoda on a small steamboat, which left between 200 and 300 persons on the pier because of lack of room on the boat. The pier was on fire at the shore end, and the only means of escape for those left behind was to plunge into the water.

E. Tisdale, also colored, was found guilty of second degree murder as being accessory before the fact.

The cases were removed to Pender county from New Hanover last spring upon the affidavit of Solicitor H. E. Shaw that he could not get a just verdict in this county in capital cases. Counsel for the negro will take an appeal. Garfield Ford, colored, charged with killing his wife in this city some months ago, whose case was also removed from this county, was tried today, the jury getting the case late in the afternoon.

HIGHLY

Special to Telegram.

Washington, July 20.—With additional disclosures concerning the secrecy surrounding the exposure of the secret executive order and with assurances that Louis Brandies, of Ballinger-Pinchot fame, will appear here next week as the attorney for the committee, highly interesting developments marked today's meeting of the House committee investigating the Controller Bay land grab. Chairman Graham confirmed the report that arrangements have been made to have Brandies in charge of the investigation.

A circular issued by Land Agent Fred Dennett formed one of the interesting exhibits. It was dated February 11, 1911, and declared that Controller Bay lands will become subject to entry. This was four months after the secret order and yet, Chairman Graham pointed out, there had been no notice of the executive order.

Richard S. Ryan, the alleged author of the Dick to Dick letter, reached Washington today and was present at the meeting and sat opposite Miss Abbott, who stirred up the controversy by publishing a story in Colliers. Ashmun Brown, former secretary to Secretary Ballinger, was also present as a prospective witness.

RECALL WILL PROBABLY BE USED IN WILMINGTON SOON

Portion of Citizens Angry at Action of Council Seek to Oust Them---Many Important Reforms Have Been Inaugurated by Council.

Special to Telegram.

Wilmington, July 20.—Petitions were placed in circulation today asking for the recall of the mayor and all members of the city council elected under the commission form of government last May. Nearly enough names were secured today for the recall.

This is the first move of the kind in the State. Discontent exists over the enforcement of rigid health laws and the adoption of ordinances for search of establishments holding United States liquor or malt licenses. The business interests of the city are against recall. The council has inaugurated many important reforms.

GOVERNOR KITCHIN WILL EXPLAIN HIS ANTI-TRUST RECORD

Returns From Speech-making Trip and will at Once Issue Statement.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, July 20.—Governor Kitchin has returned from Locklily, Person county, where he addressed a Masonic gathering yesterday. He will now give especial attention to the promised reply on his part to the attack made on his anti-trust record Sunday morning in the Raleigh morning paper through the Misenheimer-Lockhart communication and the editorial by Editor Daniels, charging him with having denounced trusts and made "trust-busting" speeches all through his campaign and then failed to use his official influence for anti-trust legislation since he came into office. It is understood that the Governor will in his forthcoming reply set out his campaign position as to trust legislation and then review his recommendations to the legislature, his official attitude and set out that the course he has pursued is that that represents the will of the majority of the people of the State on this question. The Governor's reply is being awaited with the keenest interest here and throughout the State.

WEATHER MAN NEXT TO BE INVESTIGATED

Special to Telegram.

Washington, July 20.—Willis L. Moore, chief of the weather bureau, will in all probability become subject to congressional probe by the committee on expenditures in the department of agriculture. It was learned today that Moore has been guilty of the same offense charged against Dr. Wiley, the pure food expert. He is charged with having hired experts in his department at a salary greater than is provided by law. Mr. Moore was not in the city this evening and could not be reached.

It is understood that Attorney General Wickersham, who disapproved of the payment of salaries in the Dr. Wiley case, recommended to President Taft that the salaries paid in the weather department were well within the provisions of law. The charges created a wide sensation today.

ARREST

Special to Telegram.

Richmond, Va., July 20.—Before tomorrow morning the police will have made an arrest in the Beattie shooting case of Tuesday night when Mrs. Henry Clay Beattie was shot in cold blood and they claim that by nightfall tomorrow the name of the murderer will be known. Not since the killing of Mrs. J. Samuel McCue, wife of the mayor of Charlottesville, whose husband was executed after confessing has the State of Virginia been so stirred by a tragedy.

Late this evening the young husband was subjected to a rigid examination by the chief of police behind closed doors. Beattie came with his father and it is stated made several corrections in his original story.

A decidedly new turn was given to the case tonight when a comely young woman was summoned to the office of Special Agent Searer and detained there under cross-examination for several hours. In connection with this woman is a record in the health office showing the death of an infant on July 9. The record shows the name of the infant to have been Henry Clay Beattie, Jr. The mother, according to the record is Miss Beulah Binford, the young woman who was examined tonight.

Another important development was the discovery of two auto parties on the pike the night of the tragedy. There were 8 people in the two parties, the names being withheld. All have been interrogated. Their evidence is considerd important as they were the last besides the husband to see the victim alive. It is known that at the time they passed the Beattie auto the machine was standing still with Beattie on the ground and his wife in the car. This is the spot where a large pool of blood was found and where Beattie says he was attacked by a large man who became enraged when the auto came upon him and fired a shot gun, killing his wife.

The young wife of the Manchester merchant was buried today and county and city officers aided by Chesapeake & Ohio detectives are making earnest efforts to fix the guilt for the cold-blooded killing of the young woman. Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., is at the home of his uncle and the police have asked him to remain there. The inquest will be Friday, the coroner delaying it at the request of the police, who believe they will be able to lay strong evidence before the coroner's jury. The police today looked to the gun as one important clew and the detectives are making a thorough search of the pawn shops to discover if it had a recent purchaser.

THE CAMPAIGN PUBLICITY BILL.

The Campaign Publicity Bill, which has been amended and strengthened by the Senate, is the most stringent measure ever adopted for limiting the expenditure of money in elections. The Senate has shown a willingness to go further with this measure than the House and has provided the bill with a complete set of long sharp teeth. In discussing the measure as framed by the Senate, The Baltimore Sun says:

"When after a decade of agitation its advocates secured the consideration by the House of a bill to provide for publication of the sources of campaign contributions, Speaker Cannon and the "reactionaries" succeeded in neutralizing its effect by providing for publication after election. While the passage of any sort of publicity law was regarded as a step in the right direction, there was an immediate demand that the defect in the present law be remedied by providing for publication before election, so that the voters may know before they cast their ballots, from what sources candidates and parties derive financial support, and may, if they desire, register their disapproval. This demand was met by the House at the present session by the passage of an amendment providing for publication before election.

"But the Senate, so long averse to any publicity legislation, has gone much farther than the House. The Senate amendments provide that no candidate for either house shall spend in the campaign for election a sum in excess of 10 cents for each voter in his district or State; that no candidate for Senator shall spend more than $10,000 in the primary or general election, and no candidate for the House shall spend more than $5,000; that not only all contributions of money but promises of political positions as rewards shall be published before election. Furthermore, the Senate bill prohibits the promise of political positions to secure support in elections for Congress, or to aid in the election of members of State Legislatures.

"When the bill was under consideration in the House an effort was made to have it apply to primaries as well as to actual elections, but this was strongly opposed, especially by some members from Southern and Western States in which the real contests are in the primaries, nomination being equivalent to election. Their opposition, in our opinion, was not well founded, as the expenditure of large amounts of money in primaries is quite as demoralizing as in elections. The object of publicity legislation is two-fold: First, to inform the public as to the identity of the persons or interests supporting candidates and parties, and, second, to limit the amount of expenditures. The House bill seems well designed to attain publicity, but the Senate measure would be much more effective in limiting the amount of money that could be used directly, as well as in preventing the "deals" in patronage which often constitute a scandal in close contests.

"Though it may go against the grain for some of our Southern friends to accept the Senate restrictions, 'what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander," and the same rule that applies to the Northern election should apply to the Southern or Western primary. The Democrats of the House will do well to accept the amendments adopted by the Senate and avoid a long struggle in conference that might put the party in an embarrassing position.

"Election of Senators by direct vote seems to be so near that we cannot afford to let slip this opportunity to enact a stringent publicity measure that will be a safeguard against the use of enormous sums in influencing the voters of entire States."

Alaska should be a cool subject of conversation even in hot weather, but so far discussions of Alaska this summer have provoked only rising temperatures in politics.

The Greenville Piedmont wants to know "What is a party platform?" It should not be necessary to ask that question in a State that is pushing Georgia for first place in quantity and bad quality of politics.

The prize newspaper optimist of the country has been discovered in the Times Herald of Newport News, Va. The Times-Herald thinks Alton B. Parker can be elected President next year on the Democratic ticket.

The railroads that have refused to deliver North Carolina watermelons in New York City and Brooklyn should be summarily and severely handled. Think of having to spend the summer in New York or Brooklyn without being able to eat North Carolina watermelons.

Political platforms made to catch votes and not for use after the party constructing them has been placed in power, have been very common in this country for years; but there are indications of an awakening among the people and there is likely to be an irresistable demand in the future for observance of platform promises.

It may not be absolutely necessary for Democratic aspirants for the Presidential nomination to secure Mr. Bryan's O. K. on their campaign booms, but the chances are that the nominee's name will be found in the list of eligibles mentioned by the Commoner. Governor Harmon was about the only available man Mr. Bryan failed to mention, and it does not seem at present that Harmon can overcome the popularity and the lead of Governor Wilson and Speaker Clark, whose booms appear to be steadily growing larger and stronger.

Seen on a Trip to Greensboro.

The editor enjoyed a delightful ride to Greensboro with J. Wade Siler last Saturday morning in his new Maxwell car. The distance of 33 miles was made in a little over two hours, despite the heavy roads. The road between this place and Liberty was very good, but beyond that place it had been recently worked and the rain of Friday made it sticky and tough. Soon after crossing the Guilford county line, we struck a fine macadam road and for nine miles we sped with the ease and comfort of a Pullman car. Those Guilford roads are splendid. Not only have they macadamized them, but in many places they are treating them to a coat of oil to keep the dust down. About the roughest stretch of road was for about two miles this side of Staley.

A good deal more rain has fallen in Randolph and Guilford counties than in Chatham. Eastern Randolph is a great wheat section and on nearly every farm we passed could be seen drills sowing peas on the wheat land.

J. C. Hughes was the third member of our party. He had not been over that road since March, 1865, when he walked home from Petersburg, Va., where he had secured a 30 days' furlough in order to visit his home. The fact of riding at a high speed in an automobile now over that road, was in striking contrast to the time forty-six years ago when as a poor little boy-soldier he wearily walked home, sore and hungry, with each mile seeming a dozen; now it seemed that each dozen miles was only as one. Little did he think at that dark hour of his life that later he would be speeding with the wind over that same road.—Siler City Grit.

THE VERY MAN.

Rumor has it that the President is experiencing difficulty in selecting a successor to Dr. David Jayne Hill, our ambassador to Germany. Available political candidates have been considered and found unsuited to the position, and now the diplomatic corps as at present constituted is being searched for the right man.

The man for the place is Dr. Charles Alphonso Smith, professor of English in the University of Virginia, and lately Roosevelt professor in the University of Berlin. No better man could be found in all the length and breadth of the land, and surely no one is better fitted by temperament, by ability and by experience for the German ambassadorship. Dr. Smith is persona grata to the Kaiser, as well as to the people of Germany, having establishd himself in the kindly recollection of all those with whom he came in contact during his sojourn in the Empire. A ripe scholar, with all the attainments of the true diplomat, with fine conceptions of statesmanship, Dr. Smith would make an ideal German ambassador.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

SHOUT BEFORE CRASH

(By CARA REESE.)

Shout "victory" before the walls of Jericho fall and not wait for the crash. This is the kind of faith to exercise, the kind that cries "victory" long before the laurel crown arrives or the trumpet blows.

Arise and face the routine duties arduous enough in themselves to tax the strength of a horse, but with "victory" in the click of your heels and the set of your countenance. "Victory" before the day starts, the laggards routed, the dishes washed, breakfast served and the household linen sorted and ready for the wash. "Victory" before the day fairly dawns. This is the kind of determination that wins. The clothes will soon be on the line and as white as a bone while you enjoy the after plaudits as a looker-on. "Victory" has been with you all along. The greatest victory of all is the "victory" you shout to yourself before you begin.

Shout "victory" in the start of any undertaking. Shout "victory" as a cheer up, get-up, get-along and get there impulse. It is the essence of grit and will, resolution and purpose. Cry "victory" in the very teeth of defeat, "victory" when beset and buffeted, "victory" when the pennant of the opponent waves and honors are apparently going to the enemy. "Victory," this is the watchword of success from start to finish. The individual who wins has cried "victory" long before the walls began to crumble, before, not after.

The inward shout of "victory" has forced a way through almost insurmountable difficulties. "Victory" young housewife and you have already achieved and wrought order out of chaos. "Victory" determined watcher and you have already succeeded in the reformation or salvation of the dear one. There is nothing like "victory" at the start or on the march to keep up courage and declare you a winner.

"Victory" while fighting your way through tall timber, "victory" as you climb like the intrepid youth through upward flights of frosty cheer, "victory" even though your car of progress be hitched to an ox-cart; cry "victory" long before the walls come down. Even the inanimate or events of chance succumb before a faith and determination that brook no doubt nor interference; shout!

Be sure you are right, of course, then gird up and cry "victory" in spite of all obstacles. It is so easy to keep a grip on a mental reservation or to resolve to withhold a triumphal shout until you are absolutely certain that he enemy is routed and that your efforts at bombardment have succeeded. But it requires the courage of a hero, a faith sublime and a trust that knows no doubt, to shout "victory" while as yet all is impenetrable and the walls loom ahead like a defiance of solid adamant.

It is the achievement that accepts no possibility of failure, even before it may be dignified by the term achievement, which counts in bringing down the barricades and leveling the difficulties. There must be "victory" shouted before the walls begin to crumble; "victory" before do not wait for the crash.

. . DRESS . .

(By JOHN WATSON WHYTE.

Men might roughly be divided into three divisions—the slovenly, the well dressed and the too well dressed.

The latter is, fortunately, a comparatively small class. It owns narrow forehead and broad (padded) shoulders, a receding chin and (horrors!) a waist. Its proper place is its tailor's window, with a hand mirror in its useless fingers; and as it isn't a man, it really is not worth discussing.

The well dressed man is a quite different individual. Perhaps "well groomed" describes him, for his clothes may be last season's, yet they are so thoroughly brushed and pressed that they look rather nicer than when they were quite new. His linen is absolutely immaculate and his ties show a wise realization of what suits his particular coloring, as well as the fashion of the moment.

Above all, he wears the fresh, satin-skinned, shining hair look of one who tubs and exercises and hair brushes diligently. And, verily, he has his reward—that is, if he regards it as a reward for us to admire him—and he is always such a nice, well-groomed person that, of course, he does!

Women always like the well dressed man, and in doing so show their usual instinctive good sense, for such careful personal care is the hall-mark of the self-respecting gentleman who would as soon dream of walking barefoot as sallying forth with an unshaven face or soiled collar.

For the really slovenly male person there is truly nothing to be said. Why he has a mistaken notion that grease-spotted clothes, grubby hands and a head like a birch broom in a fit are "manly," no one on earth save himself could possibly tell.

If it is "manly" to make every woman he approaches feel that he regards her with so little respect that he does not trouble to even make himself presentable for her benefit, then the slovenly one is very manly indeed.

Come Again!

"That's fair done it!" muttered the burglar, as his shin came in contact with a chair and overturned it. And he spoke the truth. It had fair done it. A sudden movement above, a hurried descent of stairs, and Sikes found himself staring into the business end of a revolver.

"Now, then," hands up," cried the aroused householder. "What have you stolen?"

"Only your wife's pug dog."

"If that's all, you may sneak out quietly."

"Your mother-in-law's parrot stolen, too."

"You don't say so? Here's some money for you. Nothing else?"

"Your daughter's phonograph."

"Good, here's a dollar for you."

"And your son's punching bag."

"Splendid! I shall have peace in the house at last. Will you have a cup of coffee with me before you go?"

Unable to stand it any longer, Jones turned smilingly to the lady and asked: "Has that infant of yours been christened yet, madam?"

"No, sir," replied the lady.

"If I were you I would call it 'Good Idea,'" said Jones.

"And why 'Good Idea,'" said the lady, indignantly.

"Because," said Jones, "it should be carried out."

And it was Jones who had to be carried out.

BOTH INDORSE WILSON.

Only Proposition on Which Pennsylvania Factions Agree.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 20.—The expected split in the Democratic State Central Committee came about today, when the two factions in the party held separate State committee meetings and completely reorganized.

While there were wide differencse between the two factions on party matters both agreed to one proposition, and that was the indorsement of Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, for the Democratic presidential nomination. Each meeting passed a resolution to that effect. The only other presidential boom in town was that of Governor Judson Harmon, of Ohio. Cards calling attention to his availability were tacked about the hotels, and some literature urging the Ohio Governor's claims also appeared.

The trouble in the party was brought to a climax by the showing made at the gubernatorial election last fall, when the Democratic voters split on two candidates. The dissatisfaction led to the appointment of a committee of seven to reorganize the party. No agreement could be reached and the result was today's split.

GAYNOR OPPOSES PROPOSED PLAN

Will Resign Office Rather Than Yield to Subway Proposition.

New York, July 20.—Mayor Gaynor came out in a straight-from-the-shoulder letter tonight laying perhaps more violent hand on the subway situation than on any municipal question since he came into office. He declared that he would resign rather than have his name linked with the execution of such a plan as was semi-officially reported today to have been agreed upon in the allotment of subways, with a practical guarantee of 9 per cent. interest to the Interborough Rapid Transit Company.

The Mayor's letter came on the heels of a conference between the Public Service Commission and the subway committee of the Board of Estimates today, at which the proposal of the Interborough Company was received, and it was semi-officially announced agreed to.

"I regret exceedingly that this thing is being done," began Mayor Gaynor in his letter of deunciation tonight. "It is a wrong, and a humiliation to this city. The city is being overreached by a few financiers of great ability."

The Mayor declared that the Interborough Company had transferred its shares of $35,000,000 capital stock to a holding company, which "straight-way financed 'this stock' by issuing $70,000,000 morth of debenture bonds, at 4 1-2 per cent., which require a 9 per cent. dividend on the original stock to provide such interest."

The Mayor continued: "I never expected to see the city officials give their aid to safely intrenching and perpetuating such baneful financing as this, from which our country has suffered such moral degeneration and material wrong.

"It would be far better for the city to operate its subways than do what it is being committed to."

He declared, in conclusion, that he had too long written and spoken against such methods to now turn about and ally himself with them, and that he would go out of office without putting that stain on his name.

FOUR DEAD IN AUTO ACCIDENT.

Car Stops on Track and Is Hit by Approaching Train.

Troy, N. Y., July 20.—Four women were killed and a chauffeur seriously injured in an automobile accident at Raceveille, seven miles north of Granville late today. The dead are Mrs. Charles Wells, Jr., Mrs. George W. Yates, and Mrs. Charles Grant, of Saratoga Springs, and Mrs. F. M. Robinson, of Boston, Mass. The chauffeur, Charles Ostrander, had both legs and one arm broken, besides sustaining internal injuries, and may not recover.

The automobile was struck on a grade crossing by a Delaware and Hudson passenger train as the automobilists were returning from Williamstown, Mass. Ostrander saw the train approaching and shifted his gear from slow to high speed in an effort to get across ahead. In shifting the gear, however, he lost the spark, and the big touring car stopped in the middle of the tracks.

DESTROYING OLD BONDS.

More Than $2,000,000,000 of Civil War Issue Fed to Furnaces.

Washington, July 20.—More than $2,000,000,000 in redeemed bonds, representing the major part of the government's Civil War debt, is being fed gradually to the furnace in the Bureau of Printing and Engraving. The engineers estimate that the immense sum in old securities will generate about as much steam as two tons of good coal.

All the government securities issued and redeemed between 1860 and 1898 are being thus destroyed, including nearly $1,000,000,000 in the famous 7-30 bonds, which are made in the size of greenbacks, and passed as money at the highest rate of interest the government has ever paid. More than 1,500,000 separate bond coupons, which represent a large portion of the government's interest payments for fifty years, also will be burned. The usual process of reducing old securities to a pulp by macerating them was at first attempted, but the job proved too great.

MISTAKEN FOR BURGLAR.

Pennsylvania Merchant, Aroused From Sleep, Shoots Wife Dead.

Kittanning, Pa., July 20.—Thinking his wife was a burglar, George Golden, a leading merchant of Wickboro, adjoining Kittanning, shot and killed her during the night. The half-crazed husband is under the care of a physician. Golden had bought a revolver because of the many burglaries committed in the vicinity of his home recently, and when he was aroused from heavy sleep by his wife pulling down a window in their room he reached under his pillow and securing the weapon, fired. He discovered his error when, upon rising to look at the supposed thief, he stumbled over her body.

SAY HEN LIGHTS HIS PIPE.

New Trick Accredited to the Westchester Leghorn.

Phisadelphia, Pa., July 20.—The White Leghorn hen owned by John Grohan, of Glenville, Westchester, which was said recently to have helped him build a chicken coop by holding the nails in its beak after he had smashed his finger, is alleged now to have learned a new trick.

It is said that when Grohan gets home after his day's work and sits in his easy chair on the porch the hen goes into the house, gets his bag of tobacco and pipe and brings them to him. Then when Grohan has filled his pipe, it is added, he puts a match in the hen's beak and she scratches it across the floor and then he lights his pipe.

Grohan declares he expects to teach the hen next to put the match out.

Stewart, 1034 Wolfram St., Chicago, writes: "I have been greatly troubled during the hot summer months with Hay Fever and find that by using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound I get great relief." Kill More Than Wild Beasts.

The number of people killed yearly by wild beasts don't approach the vast number killed by disease germs. They're in air, water, dust, even food. But grand protection is afforded by Electric Bitters, which destroy and expel these deadly disease germs from the system. That's why chills, fever and ague, all malarial and many blood diseases yield promptly to this wonderful blood purifier. Try them, and enjoy the glorious health and new strength they'll give you. THE REAL TEST

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigors may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

GEYSER SPOUTING STONES.

Washington, July 20.—Eruptions of large quantities of water, steam, sand and small rocks to a height of several hundred feet from the hot spring in the Norris Basin in Yellowstone National Park, have been occurring during the summer.

Persons familiar with the park are unable to explain the phenomena. They say that as the geysers have shown no diminution in activity the eruptions cannot be due to a diversion of steam and hot water from the regular outlets.

It may indicate, however, increasing activity in the subterranean forces to which the geysers are due, and if such is the case it is possible another geyser may develop in the park.

ALVIN HORTON, WELL KNOWN WRITER, WAS KILLED ACCIDENTALLY

Asheville, July 19.—Facts relative to the tragic death at Paint Gap, Yancey county, late Monday afternoon, of Alvin Horton, a well known newspaper writer, were learned here tonight from a citizen of Yancey. It is said that Horton, who was at his old home on a visit, saw a rabbit in the yard and, going into the house, took down an old muzzle-loading rifle for a shot at the little animal. He chased the rabbit for a short distance, when stepping on a piece of rail, which broke beneath his weight, the gun was thrown from his hand, as he pitched forward. As the weapon struck the ground it exploded and the bullet entered Horton's side, inflicting the fatal wound. The report of the gun brought assistance. Horton lived only about ten minutes after the shooting, but long enough to tell those that went to him that it was an accident and how the accident occurred. Horton was well and favorably known in Asheville and this section, having written a number of interesting stories picturing the rugged and interesting scenes in his native county.

GREAT REUNION OF BLUE AND GRAY AT MANASSAS

Special to Telegram.

Manassas, Va., July 20.—The blood-stained sward of Bull Run is again peopled with those who with bitter hatred and feverish anxiety awaited the break of dawn fifty years ago today to commence the first battle of the rebellion. But instead of mingled curses and prayers; instead of the nervous tread of sentries; the fevered restlessness of foreboding, the rival camps of the blue and gray house men bowed with years, whose only thought is that of peace and brotherhood; and whose time is spent in greeting brother soldiers, recalling incidents of days gone by and preparing for the rigors of the crowning day of the Manassas National Jubilee to be held tomorrow on the semi-centennial anniversary of the bloody battle of Bull Run.

Elaborate preparations have been made for this unique gathering. The President of the United States, and the Governor of Virginia will be present to deliver addresses, with Commanders-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic and the United Confederate Veterans, and distinguished soldiers and statesmen from every part of the United States. The town is decked with Confederate and Federal flags, and the streets swarm with visitors bent on witnessing the most unique ceremony in the history of post-bellum reunions.

Everywhere the martial spirit is in evidence. Tottering veterans throng sidewalks brilliant with the uniforms of officers and privates of the present day.

The old Henry farm house with its shot-riddled walls is gay with bunting, and hundreds of visitors, both old and young, keep the caretaker busy with their questions, while old soldiers, the light of youth, for a moment showing in their wrinkled faces, tell tales of daring deeds performed on Henry Hill.

It is here that the most impressive sight of the day will be witnessed. The time shattered remnants of the Federal and Confederate ranks, at 12 o'clock tomorrow, will issue forth from camps pitched in the same positions occupied by the opposing armies fifty years ago, and slowly tread the blood stained, bullet-plowed turf till they meet their "charge" with mutual hand clasps and well wishes instead of the singing bullets and wild curses that greeted their charges fifty years ago. After the ceremonial the veterans will partake of a love feast commemorative of their reunion and will be further regaled with an especially prepared series of motion pictures showing stirring battle scenes and peaceful pictures of later days.

At 2 p. m. the veterans will return to this city and at 3, forty-eight young ladies, representing the States of the Union will clasp hands and sing the Manassas National Jubilee Anthem especially written for the occasion. At 4 the veterans will be addressed by President Taft and the Governor of Virginia, and at 6 Manassas and sunrrounding county towns will open their houses to visitors and veterans alike in the largest public reception ever held in a State famed for its hospitality.

With the single exception of Gettysburg there is probably no Civil War anniversary so momentous; for the first battle of Bull Run, according to the generals who fought in it, not only initiated the country into war, but its effects mistakes and lessons were felt clear through to Appomattox.

About eighteen thousand men were engaged on each side. The official reports give the Union casualtiees as nineteen officers, and 462 men killed, 54 officers and 947 men wounded and 1,176 men captured. The Confederate losses are unknown as there were no records kept.

Of the eighteen thousand men engaged scarce a handfull remain today to take part in the celebration. Time has wiped out whole companies and mustered regiments now present but a few survivors. It is not probable therefore, that this history of the United States will ever again chronicle such a meeting between the Blue and Gray as that which will take place tomorrow, and for this reason every effort has been made to make it one to be remembered by posterity.

Among those prominent in the promotion of this unique rally are: General John E. Gilman, Commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic; General George W. Gordon, Commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans; Lieut. George C. Round, First Connecticut Heavy Artillery and chairman of the executive committee; Capt. Westwood Hutchinson; G. Raymond Ratcliffe; C. Maurice Hopkins; D. R. Lowell, First New York; L. D. Lowell of Chicago; B. P. Entriken, past department commander, Department of the Potomac, G. A. R., James S. Dougall, 44th New York; Arthur Hendricks, 5th New York; H. B. Matte, 89th Ohio; J. H. Thomas of the interior department, and many others who played prominent roles in the first great battle of the Civil War.

In addition to the invitations extended to the veterans they have been asked to mail postals inscribed with a brief patriotic sentiment. These manuscripts will be on exhibition in the Manassas public library and will be finally removed to the new Carnegie library in New York City, where they will be preserved forever as relics of men who passed through the greatest crisis in the history of the United States.

These postals and letters have been pouring in upon the executive committee by the hundreds and their exhibit in the library is the daily scene of eager crowds of veterans who search like school boys for letters from comrades half forgotten with the laps of years. In fact the library is a trysting place for veterans from both sides of the Mason and Dixon line, and many are the friendships that are daily renewed before this exhibit of letters from members of both armies.

Escaped With His Life.

"Twenty-one years ago I faced an awful death," writes H. B. Martin, Port Harrelson, S. C. "Doctors said I had consumption and the dreadful cough I had looked like it, sure enough. I tried everything I could hear of, for my cough, and was under the treatment of the best doctor in Georgetown, S. C., for a year, but could get no relief. A friend advised me to try Dr. King's New Discovery. I did so, and was completely cured. I feel that I owe my life to this great throat and lung cure." Its positively guaranteed for coughs, colds, and all bronchial affections. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free at Fariss Klutz Drug Co.

PROPER WAY TO SWEEP ROOM

Dusting Sheets Are Essential, Also a Costume That Is Suited to the Occasion.

In the first place, supply yourself with sweeping sheets. Many times the soiled sheets from the bed are used for this purpose, but that is not exactly a clean method. If you do not have them already, buy the coarse, unbleached cotton cloth, double width, and bind with Turkey red. Make the sheets big enough to cover the largest piece of furniture you wish to protect. The next thing is to dress properly for the work. Have a cotton frock which fits easily in the waist and sleeves so that your arms may move unhampered; easy shoes, a sweeping cap and a pair of loose, old gloves. Carry from the room all small objects which you cannot lay on couches or chairs that can be covered. Dust them before you lay them aside. Then move out of the room all small furniture which can be taken from the room easily, dusting it carefully also. Now cover with the dusting sheets all the remaining pieces of furniture, using the smaller sheets for the pictures. Remove rugs and the like. Have ready the damp tea leaves or shreds of paper, for it is not wise to do dry sweeping. The dust will fly, no matter what you may do. The damp tea leaves prevent it flying about and settling down again in the crevices and corners. Sweep from the corners toward the center of the room.

Brussels Sprouts.

Brussels sprouts should be prepared for cooking by removing any outside leaves after soaking and putting in the casserole with, for a quart of sprouts, one cupful of stock and one rounding tablespoonful of butter. Cook until tender. Remove cover of the casserole, season with salt and pepper, add more butter if necessary and serve without sauce.

There is but one way of finding out when vegetables are done, and that is to try them. Salt should be added when the cooking is nearly or all done and the time for cooking in the casserole should be from ten to forty minutes more than cooking on the stove. They do not need careful watching when cooking in this way and will be found to be more delicious.

Even ignorance outgrows its cloak now and then.

TROOPS FOR PANAMA FORTS.

Artillerymen Go to Canal Zone Within a Year, Senator Prophesies.

Washington, D. C., July 20.—Senator Warren, chairman of the Senate finance committee, and former chairman of military affairs, predicted after a talk with President Taft at the White House today, that artillerymen to man the fortifications on the Panama Canal zone would be sent south within a year.

Senator Warren declared that not only artillerymen, but regiments of infantry and perhaps cavalry would be sent to the Isthmus. He was of the opinion that there was no need to spend a great amount of money in erecting barracks for the army. He believed that the houses that shelter canal employes could be used.

WHISKERS LAY WEARER OUT.

Pittsburg, July 20.—The sight of three feet of whiskers on a face he hadn't seen in 40 years caused Jacob Steinman to faint dead away today. The face and whiskers were his own.

Steinman, who is a hermit in Lower Reserve township, is 85 years of age, and with his visit to the White Horse Tavern today he saw for the first time a trolley car and an automobile. He had never seen a train nor never heard of an airship. Steinman eked out a living by doing field work for farmers, who paid him produce and cast off clothing. An autoist discovered him and brought him to the tavern, where he was tasting his first beer when he discovered his whiskers. He has promised to get shaved.

PIPE EXPLODES IN POCKET.

Bristol, Pa., July 20.—Taking liberties with his pipe when he packed it into a hip pocket not fully emptied, Ellwood Watt, 20-year-old son of Assessor A. Lincoln Watt, is suffering from a severe burn on his leg.

Watt thought the pipe empty but a few sparks exploded the celluloid mouthpiece and set him afire. He was forced to jump into Silver Lake, where he had gone to fish, to extinguish the blaze.

REFUSES TO DISCUSS CASE.

Miss Barrymore Will Not Discuss Contemplated Divorce.

Chicago, July 20.—Smiling and apparently in the best of health, Miss Ethel Barrymore, in private life Mrs. Russell Griswold Colt, arrived in Chicago today. She was accompanied by Miss Louise Drew and Miss Georgia Drew Mendum, her couins. Miss aBrrymore declined to discuss the report that she intends to begin divorce proceedings when she arrives in New York. "I have nothing to say about anything," said Miss Barrymore. "You know Mr. Frohman, my manager, forbids me to talk for publication."

Mr. Dusch, who had been a bee fancier, owning and operating one of the largest aviaries in this section of the State, was placing a cap on one of the hives when he shrieked. His wife rushed out of the house to the aviary and was just in time to see her husband fall to the ground. He was unconscious when she reached him.

Do You Read the WANT ADS?

Have you found out what interesting news is contained in the want page? There is a reason why want ads are interesting to everybody. Supply and demand create a market. The man who has an article which he has no further use for, with the assistance of a little want ad, can find readily the other man who is looking for just that article. On the other hand the man who is looking for some particular article can find the man who has it and who it perhaps has not occurred that he can sell it, thus by means of the want ad purchasers and sellers for small articles get together.

Try a Want Ad in The Telegram, it makes no difference what you want, tell it here.

COTTON GOODS TRADE.

New York, July 20.—The Journal of Commerce says:

"The drop in January to under 12 cents started the cotton goods trade yesterday. The sooner the market settles the quicker business will start, jobbers think.

The New York Commercial says:

"Interest was aroused in the takers of the enormous lot of cotton thrown on the market during the last three days and inquiry developed the fact that the absorption had centered in three leading spot houses, whose purchases were largely for mill account and export.

COTTON LETTER TO J. E. LATHAM.

New Orleans, La., July 20.—Liverpool shows a better tone in new crops but is still weak in summer positions, suggesting more liquidation in these options. Spots 13 lower, sales 8,000. The weather map shows cloudy weather over entire belt, good rains in northwest Texas, Oklahoma and western Arkansas. Little precipitation in southern half of Texas. Temperatures have risen materially in the west. Scattered showers in the central and eastern States, heaviest in Mississippi, Louisiana and west Alabama. Indications are for continued cloudy and unsettled weather in the entire belt, rising temperatures in Texas. Reports of damage by rains and increased shedding are more numerous, particularly from Louisiana and Mississippi, and come from reliable sources.

Our market opened a few points higher, and as the class of buying was good and weather prospects bullish, there was a tendency to advance. October sold to 12.14 when wires from New York of a strained political situation in Europe, which might lead to war between two of the leading powers, caused the improvement to be lost.

As neither Liverpool cables nor the action of the stock market indicated any serious political developments abroad, the New York war wires were criticised. Bankers here with foreign connections have no information whatever of a disquieting nature. The market experienced a severe bear attack, however, toward noon and October broke to 11.91. The bear element appears to be in complete control and crop news is being ignored.

Denies Having Told Hines That He and Taft Wanted Lorimer Elected.

Special to Telegram.

Washington, July 20.—Former Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, of Rhode Island, leader of the United States Senate until his retirement last March, today told the Lorimer investigating committee of the part that he and President Taft took in the election of Lorimer. Instead of telling the story told by Edward Hines, of Chicago, the storm center of the investigation, on account of his statement that Aldrich told him that he and Taft were anxious to have Lorimer re-elected.

The witness said that he told Hines that Lorimer's candidacy was not objectionable to himself and President Taft. When Lorimer's attorneys tried to show that the witness might have said "acceptable" Aldrich said he remembered that he said "not objectionable."

He stated that he knew Hines would use the information given at Springfield. He also told the committee that he told Hines that he considered Lorimer the only man who could be elected. He denied telling Hines that he wanted Lorimer elected because of the close vote that would be in the Senate. He did not ask Senator Penrose to bring Hines to see him and did not believe that Penrose brought him to his room.

Hines was present at the hearing, as was Mrs. Hines, who has attended every session of the committee since the investigation began.

DISTILLERY BOING RUSHING BUSINESS WAS CAPTURED

Raid of Revenue Officers in Harnett County Resulted in Big Haul—Negro Badly Wounded in Assault on the Plant—Still Was Doing Large Business.

Special to Telegram.

Fayetteville, July 20.—J. B. Holland, Dunn; D. C. Downing, Fayetteville; U. S. Deputy Collectors J. A. Colvin, Fayetteville; A. J. Surles, Dunn; U. S. Field Marshals with Sheriff N. H. McGeachy and Deputy Sheriff J. M. B. Monaghan of Cumberland as possemen captured a seventy gallon whiskey still today about five miles from Spout Springs, Harnett county. Twenty gallons of low wines, 3,000 gallons beer, a breech loading gun, a Smith & Wesson pistol, a mule and wagon were included in the capture.

The party knowing they were getting close on the still by location and hearing talking divided and surrounded the plant, then made a rush. A goodly crowd were at the still and scattered in all directions. Two negroes, Willis McRae and Ed Fuller, were captured. MacRae was badly shot up, one arm being completely shattered with buckshot. It was evident from what Fuller told the officers that the still was running day and night and doing a big business.

Collector Holland took the prisoners across the country to Manchester and brought them to Fayetteville by the afternoon Greensboro train, where they were lodged in jail. McRae's wounds were given attention by Dr. Seavy Highsmith. The still, with low wine, beer and quantity of mash, were destroyed.

Boy Scouts Now Number 150,000, With 350,000 More Applicants

Photos by American Press Association.

ESTIMATES recently made place the number of boy scouts in America at 150,000, and applications have been received from 350,000 other lads who wish to become members. The movement has grown faster than the originators expected—indeed, it has grown faster than was desired—and it has been found impossible to keep the machinery ahead of the organization. At the national headquarters in New York literature is being prepared modeled on that issued by the English organization, and the coming winter agents will be placed in the field to complete the local organizations that have been established in more than 300 cities and towns. Every state and territory is represented. Some time ago it was announced that the first national encampment was to be held at Otsego lake, near Cooperstown, N. Y., July 12 to 18. This encampment has not had the support of the national organization because of the danger that would follow the assembling of a large number of boys in one camp. The national officers believe that better results will be had by local encampments. The upper one of the pictures printed above shows a group of boy scouts who "hiked" from Troy to New York, camping outdoors on the journey. The other photograph shows the boys in camp.

Work on New Calaboose Begun.

Workmen were busy yesterday with the new calaboose that is to replace the dungeon in the rear of the police office. The new calaboose will contain ample room to meet the needs of Greensboro for years to come unless criminals become more numerous than at present. Besides being commodious it will be made as sanitary as possible.

SUGGESTIONS AS TO LINGERIE

Dainty Finishes to Garments May Easily and Without Much Cost Be Be Provided.

It is surprising what dainty trimmings and aids to the home seamstress can be bought at such low prices in the stores.

Not perishable edgings, but, for instance, hand-made ruffling of fine nainsook for trimming pretty underwear.

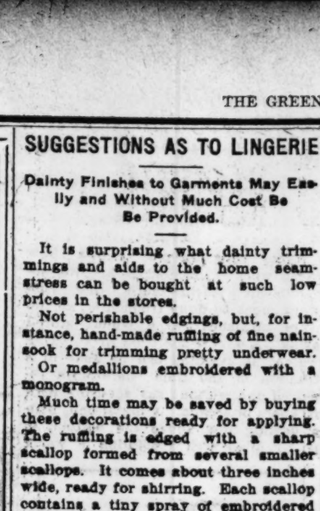
Or medallions embroidered with a monogram.

Much time may be saved by buying these decorations ready for applying. The ruffling is edged with a sharp scallop formed from several smaller scallops. It comes about three inches wide, ready for shirring. Each scallop contains a tiny spray of embroidered flowers. The medallions, too, are extremely dainty. They are oval in shape, are embroidered with an initial more or less elaborated and are outlined with a baby veining.

In applying these medallions to the various garments it is necessary to know the correct positions. On corset covers this is just below the but on the left side. The drawers are marked just above the knee. The nightdress may show the initial on the sleeve should the trimming interfere with the display of the motif at the bust.

In the case of the slashed bell nightdress sleeves a little spray of embroidery could decorate three corners, the medallion being applied in the fourth.

WHITE VOILE DE SOIE.



Tunic of silk broderie anglaise, and vest of black and white striped taffetas. The large chip hat has a bow of raven's-wing blue velvet.

THE STYLES IN OVERSKIRTS

Tendency to Draping Is Noted, Particularly When Garment Is of Diaphanous Material.

The overskirt is a notable feature of all the importations. Some of the tunics hang perfectly straight and are finished off at the bottom with fringe, bands of embroidery or other trimming. A tendency to draping, however, is noted, particularly when the overskirt is of some diaphanous material, and the drapings are usually caught together with ornaments, lace motifs, over bunches of flowers.

Several of the houses show a wrapped in skirt, which gives the effect of a material being wound around the figure several times and caught together. In these skirts the selvage of the material is frequently seen, showing that no attempt has been made to cut the fabric. Double and even triple skirts are displayed. Sometimes the same material is used for the entire skirt, giving somewhat the effect of a three flounce skirt. In other instances three different materials are employed—a violet crepe meteor having an overskirt of gold lace coming below the knees and a shorter one of blue chiffon.

A Surprise Party.

A party of a score of young people last evening played a merry and agreeable prank on two of their friends when they went in a body to the home of Miss Nellie Thomas, on Percy street, and gave surprise party complimentary to her house guest, Miss Ruth Browing, of Burlington. About twelve couples were in attendance and they spent a pleasant evening from the first "surprise" at 9:30 o'clock until the departure of the guests two hours later.

Excellent music was furnished by members of the company and enjoyed by the entire party. Merry games also whiled away the time quickly, after which abundant refreshments, carried to the home by the visitors, were served and eaten with hearty relish.

Plyler—Barnhardt.

Charlotte, July 20.—A wedding of interest not only in Charlotte but throughout the State was that this afternoon, of Miss Grace Barnhardt of Cabarrus county, and Rev. Alva W. Plyler of this city. The ceremony occurred at 6:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Barnhardt, at Pioneer Mills, Cabarrus county, sixteen miles distant from here. Rev. M. T. Plyler, presiding elder of the Elzabeth City District, North Carolina Methodist Conference, and brother of the groom, performed the ceremony. He was assisted by Rev. Mr. Lapsley, pastor of Rock River Presbyterian church.

After the wedding Mr. Plyler and his bride left for an extended bridal tour. They will be away a month, visiting New York, Niagara Falls, Toronto, cruising down the St. Lawrence as far as Quebec and then visiting New England and Atlantic City. On their return here they will be at home for a month or longer at the Central hotel. Afterwards they will occupy the parsonage of Trinity Methodist church, of which Mr. Plyler is the talented and popular pastor.

Miss Barnhardt has spent much time here where she is highly popular in a wide circle of friends. She is a graduate of Elizabeth College, where she specialized in music, attaining distinct proficiency. She is a sister of Mr. Charles Barnhardt and also Mrs. Walter Davidson of this city, with whom she made her home while here, at No. 805 East avenue.

Mr. Plyler is one of the most popular members of the Western North Carolina Methodist Conference. He is a graduate of Trinity College and more recently has pursued post-graduate studies in theology and philosophy at the University of Chicago. He is a man of poise, of broad intellectual caliber, and is a clear and independent thinker. To those qualifications which equip him excellently for the mental phase of the work of his calling, he unites a wholesomeness of spirit and a warmth of sympathetic interest which make a personality of potential influence. He is a native of Iredell county. For the past two years he has been pastor of Trinity church.

LORIMER WILL SEEK VINDICATION IF EXPELLED FROM THE SENATE

Illinois Senator of Unsavory Reputation is Bold Fighter, Never Quits and has Firm Hold on His Constituency--Something About the Man's Methods.

(By VICTOR ELLIOTT.)
Special to Telegram.

Washington, July 20.—Should the United States Senate declare vacant the seat of William Lorimer, United States Senator from Illinois, Lorimer will go before the people of his State for vindication and re-election.

The Sixty-second Senate exonerated the Chicago politician of the charge of buying his senatorial toga, and gave him a clean bill of political health. Throughout that first investigation the placidity of Lorimer caused much comment. His demeanor was that of one confident of what the outcome would be.

Following Lorimer's acquittal of bribery or of having indirectly bribed Illinois legislators and thus procured his election, the legislative committee at Springfield stirred up new and highly sensational evidence of corruption in connection with his election—evidence that had not been uncovered even in a small degree by the first United States Senate investigating committee. It was developed through Clarence S. Funk, head of the International Harvester Company, that there had been a $100,000 "slush" fund to "put Lorimer over." Edward Hines, head of a big lumber combine, was named as the solicitor, and Edward S. Tilden, a financier who cannot remember how many millions of dollars are subject to his personal check, was named as the repository of this "Lorimer money."

Unruffled throughout the first inquiry, wherein it was alleged at least seven legislative votes were bought outright for Lorimer—just enough to elect him—Lorimer has continued his bland treatment of the scandal since the unearthing of the testimony of Funk. Condemned and ridiculed from the Canadian boundary to the Gulf of Mexico and from the Pacific slope to the shores of the Atlantic, Lorimer remains cool and collected. He has had thirty years' experience in Chicago politics. That is one reason for his calmness. If his nerves are worn to the wire edge, there is not the slightest outward and visible sign of it.

Tenacious as a bulldog, Lorimer or Lorimer's friends have permitted the report to be spread that, in the event he is ousted from the United States Senate as a result of the rigorous probe that is now being prosecuted, he will return to Illinois, and with the same resoluteness which has characterized his fight for vindication in the highest law-making body in the land, he will struggle for vindication at the hands of the people of his State. That Lorimer will do this may be put down as a firmly determined course. Even his bitterest political enemies here were not surprised at the first suggestion of such a thing.

"It would be just like Lorimer," they say. "He had a hard time getting into the Senate, and there is nothing to cause surprise in the announcement that he will fight to the end to hold his seat."

It has been said of Lorimer that he is the embodiment of all that is practical in modern politics. In his thirty years experience he has had many opportunities to "turn a political trick" here and there, and took advantage of those opportunities, at times, made the opportunities to take advantage of. When a youngster arrived at a constituent's home, whether Lorimer knew the head of the house personally or not, a congratulatory note always reached the proud parents from the thoughtful Lorimer. When the Grim Reaper carried away a member of a constituent's family, a sympathetic epistle and sometimes flowers were sent to the bereaved home by Lorimer. Thirty years of such practices have worked wonders for Lorimer in Illinois. He has gradually but surely built up a strong personal following, not only in his own Congressional district, but throughout the State.

Being a man who "doesn't know when he is licked," Lorimer, his friends say, will shell the woods of Illinois from one end to the other, and appeal to those upon whom he has conferred favors to restore him to his seat in the Senate, not simply for a vindication from the ugly charges made against him and his machine, but also for the sake of the re-election for which the Senator seems to have "hankerings." Lorimer's friends believe he would win su cient support, despite the mass of muck that has been revealed along his political path, to cause the legislature to re-elect him. And his re-election is not the remote possibility some of his enemies consider it.

Observant ones in the second Senate hearing now being prosecuted have not been slow to note the great amount of details brought out about Illinois politics by Lorimer's formidable of legal aides. There has been speculation that the object of this is to furnish Lorimer with a lot of handy information in case he will have to make a campaign for re-election.

The imperturbability of Lorimer stands out strikingly as a marvel of this stormy investigation. Occasionally a flicker of a smile will sweep over his face, when a confused witness blunders into an awkward statement, or has the temerity to "get off" some word play or pun. Usually his face is steely cold, and his eyes, blue and piercing, reflect not the slightest trace of feeling.

Some Washingtonians are picturing to themselves a sense of the "return of Lorimer." They think it would be a dramatic entry—a man re-entering the Senate in triumph, after being involved in an unparalleled case of corruption in politics. But, describing such a scene at this date may be dealing in the idlest fancies. Lorimer has not been cast out of the Senate yet, and it is possible that he will not be, although the odds seem against him at this time.

Honest Medicines Versus Fakes.

President Taft's recent message suggesting an amendment to the Pure Food and Drugs law in its relation to Prepared Medicines, does not refer to such standard medicines as Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and Foley's Kidney Pills, both of which are true medicines carefully compounded of ingredients whose medicinal qualities are recognized by the medical profession itself as the best known remedial agents for the diseases they are intended to counteract. For over three decades Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has been a standard remedy for coughs, colds and affections of the throat, chest and lungs for children and for grown persons, and it retains today its pre-eminence above all other preparations of its kind. Foley Kidney Pills are equally effective and meritorious. Howard Gardner.

OLD MAN HELD ON CHARGE OF CRIMINAL ASSAULT

I. H. Atchesson, 65 Years Old, Claiming to be a Doctor, Held on Charge of Criminally Assaulting Young Lady Near Guilford College.

Yesterday morning at 9 oclock, before Justice of the Peace M. L. Kendall, I. H. Atchesson, 65 years old, of White Oak, was given a preliminary hearing on the charge of criminally assaulting Miss Clemmie Smith, the 16-year-old daughter of Sam Smith, who lives a few miles from Guilford College. After hearing the evidence Justice Kendall held the defendant in a bond of $200 for his appearance at the next term of Guilford criminal court. He could not give bond and was committed to jail until the bond could be arranged.

The evidence, which was heard behind closed doors, was to the effect that the defendent, who calls himself a doctor, curer of diseases, etc., went to the home of the prosecutrix for the purpose of making an examination of her condition, as he claims, preparatory to concocting certain medicine for her. She resisted his efforts to make an examination and testified that he committed criminal assault. The defendant stated that he did nothing further that to make the necessary examination preparatory to making the medicine. A younger sister, who, however, is much larger than the victim, finally came into the room and drove the defendant out.

Atchesson's story does not exactly tally with the circumstances for he admitted to making an examination of the person of the girl for the purpose of ascertaining what medicine she needed, whereas he had already prepared the medicine and carried it with him to the home. He further claimed that he was sent for to give relief to the victim, who, it is stated, suffers from fits. This is denied by the victim, who stated that she did not know anything about him until he appeared upon the scene.

The defendant is well known around the mill villages. He has two daughters and a wife, having been married three times.

PAN FOR CLEANING SILVER

Tableware Is Quickly Brightened When Soaked In Solution—Labor Also Eliminated.

Every housekeeper knows how much work is entailed in keeping silver clean. Furthermore, that this work must be done frequently, as the ware tarnishes even when stored away. A device has been invented by which the cleaning can be done in a fraction of the time heretofore required and without any scouring with powders or pastes. A metal pan, with a grating just above the bottom, is partly filled with a solution of warm water and a tablespoonful each of common salt and baking soda. The pan is made of a material which will not corrode from the action of these substances in the water, but this same action will remove the tarnish from silver in a few minutes. The tableware is placed on the grating in the pan and allowed to remain there for from one to two minutes, if warm water is used, and from five to ten minutes if the water is cold. It is then removed and wiped dry, leaving it as bright as new.

OLD NEW ENGLAND DELICACY

Apple Slump Healthful and Appetizing, Particularly During the Months of Summer.

Pare, core and quarter one dozen cooking apples, pour over them one cupful of boiling water and put where they will begin to cook. Five minutes later add to the apples one and a half cupfuls of molasses and cook for 15 minutes more, while you prepare a soft biscuit dough, using two cupfuls of flour, one heaping teaspoonful of sugar, two level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and one teaspoonful of butter, rubbed finely into the flour, and milk to stir to a dough that is too soft to roll. Put this over the apples, which should be tender, but not broken, cover the saucepan closely and cook 30 minutes without lifting the cover. Serve with a hot sauce, made by heating to a cream half a cupful of butter and one cupful of sugar, stirring in just before using one cupful of boiling milk and a seasoning of grated nutmeg.

Cucumber Soap.

Buy two and one-half pounds of mutton fat in the leaf and try it out, and save the rest. I get the cucumbe juice by running cucumbers through food chopper and straining: One can of potash, disolved in one quart of water, let it get cold, one pint of cucumber juice, one-half cup of borax, ten cents' worth oil of sassafras, one tablespoon of sugar to make it lather, six pounds of grease, melt your grease and when it is lukewarm turn the liquids (all together) in a thin stream into the grease, stirring all the time, until all is together, then stir 15 or 20 minutes until it is pretty thick. Pour it into a pan and let harden, cutting it in squares before it gets hard.—Exchange.

Fancy Shortcake.

Pour one cupful of boiling water over two cupfuls of sugar. Boil for five minutes, then cool. Separate the whites from yolks of four eggs and beat the yolks until thick; then add the sirup to them, beating constantly; now add two cupfuls of flour sifted with two teaspoons of baking powder; add a pinch salt and one teaspoonful of lemon juice; then fold in the whites, beaten stiff and dry; spread in two layer cake pans; bake in a quick oven. When done remove to a warm platter, spread with sugar, and strawberries crushed. Place on top a thick meringue of beaten egg whites with sugar or whipped cream and sugar. Arrange berries around the cake.

To Inset Cream Color.

To wash cream colored materials which tend to fade in washing, so that they will retain the rich cream cast original in them, it is only necessary to pass them through clean warm water in which onions have been boiled. White materials may be steeped in such liquid to give them a delicate cream shade, and any which have faded nearly white should lie in the bath for a short time to regain their original tint. Rinse and finish in the usual way.

Salt Will Help.

A varnished floor can be cleaned more easily if sprinkled with coarse salt, which is allowed to stand for a few minutes, then brushed off with a soft broom.

Temperance Cake.

One cup sugar, one-half cup butter, two cups flour, two-thirds cup sour milk, one egg, one teaspoon soda. Flavor with nutmeg or lemon, or both.

BRESNAHAN'S TEAM MAKES GREAT "COME BACK" IN BASEBALL

(By MANHATTAN.))
Special to Telegram.

New York, July 20.—Did you ever know such a baseball season? I never did and I have been following the game since the days of town ball and rounders. It's a great thing for the game, too, to see the middle of the season with the first team of the second division of the National League so close up with the league leader that the result of three or four games might reverse their positions.

While the American league race is not so intensely exciting as the National, there is what would under ordinary circumstances be a rattling race between the two leading clubs in the junior league with two or three others still in striking distances.

Undoubtedly the sensation of the season in baseball is Roger Bresnahan of the St. Louis Nationals. We have become accustomed to look upon the Cardinals as hopeless tail enders. When Bresnahan took the team three seasons ago there was a temporary spirit but the team from the far west continued to fight it out with Brooklyn and Boston for cellar honors. So it began this year, when suddenly and without warning Bresnahan's men began to play the best and most consistent ball of any team in the league, until now if they can keep the pace they have as good a chance as anybody to cop the flag.

What's the reason?

Always a brainy, resourceful athlete, Bresnahan has at last gotten the managerial knack, and has pulled his squad together for one set purpose—and that purpose is to get more runs than the other side. When his pitchers start wobbling, he is not longer hot on their trail. With him now it's "All right, old dog, stick it across, you can do it; shoot it here, you've got 'em beaten to death. Come on now and push this one over."

The main factor in Bresnahan's success, however, centers around this one feature—he has put ambition into his bunch, has wiped out the old lethargy and has made them believe they are as good or better than any other club in the league.

Personality is the greatest factor in any managerial success. Quick thinking and knowledge of the game come next. Bresnahan has all three. He has the great faculty of getting the last ounce of work from his talent, of keeping them eternally in the fight and of playing the game to the best of their ability at every angle of the fray.

And his late shift of giving his own team encouragement and fighting the other fellows instead has been the one knack which has put his people into the race.

Graduating under J. McGraw, Bresnahan belongs to what is known as the "old school," which comprises McGraw, Jennings and others of that type.

And the main idea of the old school was to go out there and fight—and fight to win.

NEW POSTAGE STAMPS.

Washington, July 20.—"Utility, art and harmony," according to Third Assistant Postmaster General Britt, will be combined in a new issue of postage stamps about to be authorized. The head of President Washington will appear on the first six of the series, while the last five will bear the likeness of Benjamin Franklin.

All of the new stamps' denomination will be in Arabic, and this, as well as the use of a separate color or shade for each denomination, is expected to prevent the confusion of which two conventions of postal clerks have complained.

GREENVILLE AND SPARTANBURG TIED

Greenville, S. C., July 20.—Both pitchers were in the best of condition and fielding by each team was superb. Today was boosters day and the game began at five after the stores had closed.

Greenville made one run in the seventh, a single, a sacrifice, and a double and the score was tied in the ninth by McCarthy's home run. It was too dark to play any extra innings. Left Fielder Cashion, of the locals, made two sensational catches. Each pitcher gave one base on balls. Ferrell fanned twelve and Ridgeway eleven. Tommy Stouch took command of locals today and managed from the bench.

MORRISEY AND DOYLE HEROES OF YESTERDAY'S CONTEST

Former Held Twins Down for Twelve Innings and Doyle Drove in the Winning Runs---Swindell Weakened Towards Last.

The Mighty has fallen. The tin lord of the Twin City fans has been forced at last by the Patriots to bite the dust. In a nerve-racking, twelve-inning contest at Cone Athletic park yesterday afternoon "Deacon" Morrisey won the honors over Winston's premier pitcher, and the first of the three series came Greensboro's way by a score of 3 to 2.

Without detracting in the least from the credit that goes to the opposing twirlers of the contest, it must be said that to Manager Doyle belongs the credit of bringing the victory to his team. It was his pretty double in the eighth that scored Stuart and Rickard, tieing the score, and again it was his sizzling single in the twelfth that brought Stuart across the rubber when two men were down and completed the great contest.

There may have been prettier games here this season, but never one in which there was greater interest. The crowd hung on eager, intense, anxious. For five innings the game went without a run. In the sixth Clemens' single, Clancy's hit and Shumaker's three-bagger gave Winston the first two tallies of the game. For two innings then the goodly-sized bunch of Winston's fans present were very, very noisy. Their enthusiasm was short-lived. In the eighth Swindell began to weaken. Stuart and Rickard were given free passes. Then Doyle came to the bat and sent a long drive behind Shumaker in center field. Shumaker made a good run and attempt to catch, but he only succeeded in knocking it down, and Rickard and Stuart crossed the plate.

For four innings the game rocked along with the score tied. In the ninth Greensboro started off splendidly. Clapp got a pretty single and Lowman beat out a bunt. Carroll attempted a bunt, but Swindell caught the ball and executed a neat triple play by throwing behind Clapp at second and Lowman at first, who had run when Carroll hit the sphere.

In the tenth Rickard's hit and two bases on balls by Swindell filled the bases, but the necessary hit was not forthcoming. In the eleventh Greensboro batters went out in one-two-three order. In the twelfth Stuart knocked a slow infield ball that bounded over the pitcher to the second baseman and the runner beat it out. The "Deacon" sacrificed him to second, and Stuart got to third when Rickard went out second to first. Then Doyle came up and sent a pretty one over second base. Stuart crossed the plate, and the agony was over.

Although he allowed one more hit than Swindell, Morrisey pitched the better game by far. Swindell did great work until the seventh. Only one hit had been secured off his delivery and that a sort of Texas leaguer that rolled to the fence, Carroll getting three bases on it. In the eighth his wildness began to crop out, and two men were given bases; after that it was easy to get men on bases but Swindell-luck, as in the triple play, saved him. In only one inning did the Deacon allow more than one hit, and that was when he was out of humor because of a bobble behind him, which was really a pardonable sort of an error. Morrisey struck out eight men and walked only two. Swindell struck out seven and walked five. Swindell grew weaker the longer the game ran; Morrisey pitched the best ball in the twelfth that he had pitched at all.

Aside from the work of the pitchers, the game was featured by the triple play by Winston, the outfield work of the visitors and Rickard, the hitting of Shumaker for the Twins and the batting of Doyle, Clapp and Carroll for the locals. Doyle drove in all of Greensboro's runs, and besides made two pretty drives that would have gone for hits but for sensational catches by Clemens and Stuart.

Raleigh's Water Supply Insufficient.

Raleigh, July 20.—Dr. R. H. Lewis, of the State Board of Health, is out in a statement to the effect that Raleigh's present water supply—Walnut creek—a mile from the city, is not sufficient for the city's needs and that the Neuse river must be utilized. This is six miles away. He expects water famines, or threatened ones, will be frequent if this change is not made.

DIAMOND DUST

Do it again today, boys.

Always have believed we could beat him.

It was worth several times the price of admission.

The mouths of the Winston rooters resembled clams after Doyle's drive in the eighth.

Walters and Boyle will probably oppose each other in this afternoon's game, which will commence at 4:30 o'clock.

Swindell was certainly rattled yesterday. There ought to be value in the experience. The proper amount of enthusiasm and rooting in the grand stand will go a long way toward bringing home the games.

Doyle was the hero of the game. The "Deacon" kept the other side from scoring and shared the honors evenly, but it was "Rabbit" who brought in the runs that tied the score and again the tally that won the game.

It was pitiful to see the expression on Swindell's face when Doyle's single went by him and on into the outfield in the twelfth, for in the meantime "Tiny" was sprinting in from third.

If Greensboro fans will get behind the team and make the proper amount of noise we ought to get every one of these three games. We would like to have all who will "make a noise for the home team" sit near the centre of the grand stand today.

Those Winston folks are the hardest losers in the world. One never heard so much noise as they made yesterday until the eighth. But when they saw their idol losing they were as quiet as the occupants of a country cemetery at midnight.
